3rd Annual A Perfect Pairing

Easter Seals Colorado is proud to partner with Raquelitas Tortillas, Food Services of America, and Tommyknocker Brewery of Idaho Springs for our 3rd Annual Perfect Pairing. The event will include tapas style food prepared by local chefs paired with Tommyknocker beers. In addition, there will be entertainment by comedian Chris Fonseca and a silent auction. You must be 21 or older to participate. Casual Attire. With a goal of $25,000, we need your help to send 20+ campers to a week of fun at Rocky Mountain Village Camp. Last year over 800 campers experienced a week of magic at Rocky Mountain Village, fishing, riding horses and even screaming down a zip-line! One camper said, "I can't find the words to express just how much I truly appreciate the camp experience, it was the first place that I ever felt as though I belonged. Rocky Mountain Village staff accepts the campers for who they are, they focus on their abilities and strengths, rather than their disabilities and challenges. It is a beautiful and refreshing approach to life." Help make a camper smile today by participating in A Perfect Pairing! TICKET Includes - Unlimited appetizers, followed by Tommyknocker beer and food pairings.

Silver Ochre: Who Are US 2016, Observations from the 21st Century American Road

Through a series of 'moving stills', accompanied by a live original soundtrack and field recordings, 'Silver Ochre: Who Are US 2016' illustrates early 21st century America captured by two perpetually traveling artists.

From March 31st to November 8th, Thollem Electric and ACVilla will be touring the lower 48 states. They kicked off the tour in Albuquerque at Guild Cinema, screening the initial version of the movie which concentrated on the state of New Mexico. As the duo travels around the country, they will be recording moments and places in each state, weaving the new footage into the original version of the film. With every performance on this tour, Silver Ochre will represent a greater diversity of this country, eventually interweaving aspects of all 48 states. The moving stills focus the eye on the myriad of points where people meet each other and their environment. The music evolves spontaneously, each performance influenced by Thollem's sonic experiences in a lifetime of traveling this extremely multi-cultured country. When possible, Thollem and ACVilla will facilitate a Q&A Discussion with the audience.

"Thollem, an intense and virtuosic keyboard improviser"--TimeOut, New York

"Thollem does what few can: He combines extreme imagination with terrific postclassical chops and an ability to communicate through melody... a fresh, disciplined avant-keyboardist with an attractively extreme viewpoint."

--Greg Burk - LA Weekly

"His solo compositions are a wonder, effortlessly melding clanging chords to intricate tinkling, mastering harmonics to transform the keys into texturally staggering ensemble."-- Detroit Metro Times

"Fearlessly eclectic!"-- Ernie Paik, Chattanooga Pulse

Date: April 06, 2016

Writing and Spirituality

Annual Ellen Diesenhof Scholar-in-Residence

Writing and Spirituality with Amy Frykholm

1 to 4 p.m. Sunday, April 10, 2016

The poet William Stafford said that a writer is a person who enters into a relationship with language for an experience that cannot be had any other way. In this workshop, we will call this relationship "spiritual," and we will use writing to move us into the realms of close attention, improbable encounter, and unknowing. Using pen and paper, we will explore questions such as: Can you have a spiritual encounter with an orange? Do we write what we know or what we don't know? How do we engage what Stafford calls a "wilder, unplanned, utterly trustworthy" practice for our writing?

Amy Frykholm is a writer of non-fiction and poetry. She is author of three books of non-fiction and will, she hopes, be finished with a fourth by the time she teaches this workshop. Her poems and essays have been published in Poetry, Quiddity, Soundings, and other publications. She lives up the hill in Leadville.
